

(title here)

A Kalamazoo mailman, growing annoyed, has discarded any letters not known to impart direction.

Who saw Frost ditch Mackinac Island's bridge? He took lines less traveled by.

In my town, snowy Detroit, I watch him cut straight toward my own wood mailbox.